Note from the Chairman

Dear Sahayogis,

The end of the COVID-19 pandemic is in sight as the situation across the globe settles down towards sanity. I request each one of you to join me in wishing those brave souls who worked round the clock to help people fight the burdensome situation that occurred during the year. The deadly virus brought misery to people which brought the entire world to an economic and social disruption. The pandemic devastated millions of people and put them at risk of falling into extreme poverty and undernourishment. As the pandemic was changing our life and economy drastically, many did come forward to help and fight the battle against Covid – 19. People of front line workers and Civil Society Organizations were providing with much-needed supplies and I am thankful to each one of you. With this coming new year let us motivate each other and find ways to inspire one another by reaching out to changing more lives and spreading happiness around.

Prajna Tutorials, Bengaluru

Prajna tutorials transform mathematics from an unrelieved experience of memorization to something engaging, captivating and fun! They make it relatable through real world examples and use visual aids and mental math to alter the perception of Maths from an unexciting subject to one that is filled with admiration and curiosity. They also teach children in science and languages, along with conducting summer camps and workshops in schools. The man behind Prajna tutorials is Mr. Mahesh who is an Engineer by profession and has expertise of 15 years in software background. He quit his job and made teaching a full-fledged profession for him as teaching was his passion.

He initially started with taking private tuitions at his residence by teaching Maths. He adopts innovative methods through models, concepts and practical approach of teaching by referring books from different universities, etc. Looking at the success of how well his students were performing in schools, he wanted to give it back to the society and provide these children with the same level of personalized tutoring like the privileged ones. He planned to bring this initiative to children from government schools by using concepts to teach Math (Vedic math, Mental math, Origami related to math, visualization of math along with the regular school syllabus), Science (using innovative touch methods with practical learning from trained teachers), Kannada and English (basic to advanced).

He also provides free tuition for selected 31 students during the morning hours at his residence. These students are supported by JSSF. These students have achieved amazing academic scores second class been an average amongst most of the students. In February 2021, he started classes with Hebbal Government School students and 3 more Government schools nearby. He has also recruited two teachers who support him with Science and English. Spoken English Training

In today's modern world the English language has become part and parcel of life. English has the power of connecting people from many different cultures, building relationships and understanding. Considering the importance of communicating in English in today's competitive world, an online training was conducted to train students to speak English.

The training was implemented at few associated institutions where JSSF is supporting the Education activities. Ms. Regini Paul is a trainer and has a rich experience of working in the corporate world. She centered out by strategizing the classes according to the learning abilities of the students as each one of them could be in the focal point. The technique of training was followed rather than teaching these children like listening, reading and speaking which are the three major factors of learning spoken English. Periodical assessments and competitions were conducted to encourage the children to motivate them. This also helped to break the inhibition of speaking in English. More than 200 children have been benefitted from the training. Below is the table for the summary of the students who were trained.
